

CASE HISTORY # 155

PROJECT: CABIN DECK RENOVATION, HATHEUME LAKE, BC

DATE: AUGUST, 2013

North America's premier waterproof vinyl flooring systems. Since 1974

PROBLEM:

With cabins or other vacation properties, the priorities of what you need from a deck can be amplified and this cabin's existing high-maintenance, drip-through deck certainly highlighted a problem.

The owners of this cabin wanted a deck they could enjoy, but they really needed a dry place where they could store their outdoor items. There was no room on the small, lakeside property for a shed; but things like the wheel barrel, shovels, blower, snow mobile, bikes, canoe and patio furniture needed a protected place they could be stored when not in use.

DURADEK SOLUTION:

While the original deck boards were much overdue for maintenance, the owners decided to renovate their deck before the supporting joists were water damaged and required replacing.

The Duradek installer was able to lay the fresh 3/4 inch untreated plywood over the existing supporting structure before installing Duradek Cork Espresso vinyl membrane. The Duradek vinyl on the deck now provides an easy to clean surface, but more importantly, brings roof grade waterproof protection for the area below. The cabin now has an attractive deck and plenty of dry storage below!

JOB NOTES:

Often, high maintenance decks on vacation properties are neglected because your valuable vacation time is better spent on leisure, not on the high maintenance, time consuming task of sanding, staining and sealing.

If waterproofing is not addressed regularly and water damage weakens the structure, you can lose a whole season and a lot of money if a complete rebuild is required.
